

FEDERATION AERONAUTIQUE INTERNATIONALE

The Charles Lindbergh General Aviation Diploma

Applicant Federation of Aeronautical Sports of Russia
(Name of NAC or FAI Commission)

Address Volokolamskoye Shosse, 88, bldg. 8, Moscow 125424, Russia.....

Nominee Mr. Igor Tselishev Date of birth: 23. 06. 1958.....
(Name)

Description of outstanding services:

Igor Tselishev has graduated from the Sasov Flying School of the Ministry of Civil Aviation in 1978. Engaged in flying from 1978. Qualification: 1-st class airline pilot. His total accident-free experience: over 14000 flying hours. As a pilot-instructor he has trained 12 pilots-in-command for the international airlines. In 1995 he has graduated from the advanced training courses for flight instructors in the Academy of Civil Aviation. During his professional career he had flown as pilot-in-command by many types of aircraft: YAK-18 t , Cessna -152 and 172, AN-2, AN-8 , AN-26, AN- 32 , AN-12, AN-74 and IL- 76 . From 2004 he is employed as the chief coach of the Russian national team of amateur aviators. Igor Tselishev is the Master of Sport of Russia. For his coaching career he has trained 25 Masters of Sport , 12 nominees for the Master of Sport and 21 1-st sporting grade amateur aviators. He is the organizer of Russian national championships and training sessions in various disciplines of amateur aviators' flying. From 2005 to 2011 he had acted as the chief coach of the Russian national team of amateur aviators in the World Championships, European Championships and international competitions. He is an active promoter of amateur aviators' sport flying in Russia. Igor Tselishev is an alternate delegate from Russia in the General Aviation Commission of FAI. From 2005 he is a regular participant of the FAI GAC meetings.

Signature of Applicant

Date: 12.08.2013

V. Ivanov

President of the FAS of Russia